While covering a range of retailers, publicists and jewelry journalist's wish lists —I perused mine, which is long due to being an antique/vintage aficionado as well as having a great appreciation for emerging and independent designers. Okay, maybe aficionado and appreciation are not strong enough words. I am jewelry obsessed, and an equal-opportunity jewelry fan. I am partial to sentimental jewelry from the 17th and 18th centuries through Victorian times, the innovation of the Jazz Age and Art Deco movement and modern jewelry with meaning, soulfulness and/or innovative design.

Here are just some of the diverse pieces on my wish list:

Le Sibille's Micro Mosaic Wonder Garden Ring with Morganite center stone and diamond and gemstone melee. Why I covet this ring: the intricate and ancient art of micro mosaics made by hand has always intrigued me and the three owners of Le Sibille have brought it into a contemporary context.
